THE W. O. W. TO BE WITH US

And Will Be Handed The Keys
Of the City.

COMING SEPTEMBER FIRST

B. M. A. and Citizens Will Gladly Welcome The Visitors.

The biggest event of the year to be looked forward to will be the coming of the Uniform Rank Woodmen of the World, September 1-6. The encampment embraces Kentucky and Tennessee and the visitors will be accompanied by the W. O. W. regimental band. The program, which we will publish in full later on, is a very attractive one, and after Gov. McCreary has been made a member of the order at sight, he will take a part in the program one, if not more, of the four days. The exercises will be held in Union Tabernacle. Another important feature will be the conference of the amplified protection degree on 300 candidates by the Madisonville team. Besides the exhibition drills there are many other excellent features on the program.

There will be several thousand Woodmen here and all our citizens, backed by the B. M. A., will extend the warm hand of welcome and do everything possible to make their stay more than agreeable—just happy to be in the best town in Kentucky, if not Tennessee, too. But that will be for them to decide.

Snow In August.

Lebanon, O., Aug. 3.—Snow fell near Olive Branch, east of here, early Sunday. James Settlemyer, a farmer, residing in that neighborhood, declares that just after day break snow descended for three or four minutes. While the flakes did not come in any great quantity, he says, the ground was white in spots for a brief period.

Boys Keenly Interested.

That the boys of the State are greatly interested in the encampment to be held in connection with the State Fair, the week of September 9-14, is indicated by the fact that almost 100 applications have been received by Secretary Dent. The application blanks were sent out only a week ago.

Secretary Dent sent ten application blanks to each of the county superintendents of public schools, and some already have asked for an additional supply. They will be furnished, and it is believed at least 1,200 boys will apply.

New Dentist.

Dr. Quisenberry, a graduate of the Ohio Dental College, is associated with Dr. Fierstein in the practice of dentistry. Their offices are in the Summers building, where Dr. Fierstein has been for many years.
